

The largest alliance of U.S.-based international nongovernmental organizations focused on the world's poor and most vulnerable people.

March 10, 2015

Dear Representative,

We, the undersigned members and partners of InterAction, write to urge you to support funding in FY 2016 for poverty-focused international development and humanitarian assistance accounts at no less than the levels outlined in the attached recommendations and our accompanying Choose to Invest FY2016.

InterAction is an alliance of more than 180 U.S.-based non-governmental and faith-based organizations working in every developing country in the world. Our members and partners act because our values, and for some our faith, call us to do the right thing: help the world's poorest and most vulnerable citizens lift themselves out of poverty and build better lives for their families and children. Our work is enabled by the generosity of millions of Americans as well as partnerships with foundations, the private sector and the U.S. Government.

Although U.S. federal spending on foreign assistance amounts to less than 1% of the total U.S. budget, it contributes immensely to our national security, benefits our economy, and fulfills America's deepest moral values. U.S. investments in development and humanitarian programs make the world healthier, safer, and more prosperous. These investments build sustainability by supporting critical health systems and initiatives to fight diseases and improve maternal and child health and nutrition; helping family farmers increase their productivity; allowing children to attend and learn in school; providing access to safe water and sanitation; supporting emerging democracies; fostering equitable growth; promoting gender equality; and protecting girls and boys from violence, exploitation, and trafficking.

There is still much left to do: overwhelming humanitarian needs exist across the globe in Syria, Iraq, South Sudan, Ukraine and in Ebola-affected countries. While pleased with the response to humanitarian crises in FY2015, we are concerned by the continued use of overseas contingency operations (OCO) funds to bolster humanitarian assistance. We urge Congress to incrementally move OCO humanitarian funding into the base International Development Assistance (IDA) and Migration and Refugee Assistance (MRA) accounts.

We fully understand the critical need to protect every taxpayer dollar and to ensure the U.S. Government funds effective programs that generate real and lasting results. That is why we also advocate for greater transparency and accountability. Collectively, we have made significant progress in reducing poverty, with the U.S. playing a leading role.

Strong practical and moral arguments support investing in our international development and humanitarian programs, and we urge you to provide critical funding for them in FY2016 at no less than the levels outlined in the attached recommendations. Thank you for considering our recommendations.

Please feel free to contact Marilyn Shapley at mshapley@interaction.org or 202-667-8227 for more information.
